Notes:

- In class, we have been practicing our engineering skills. We have been hard at work with coming up with the perfect chocolate chip cookie recipe. The students are so close to mastering it. When we complete our recipe we will share it with you.
- This activity is helping the students with learning to problem solve. They had no prior knowledge of how much of each ingredient was in a batch of cookies.
- They gave me the ingredients and their measurements, I then took the recipe and made it exactly as they asked me to. The students then tried the cookies and came up with corrections to make them even better.
- This activity is a prelude to our energy project which will be a Rube Goldberg machine.
